CALLING MIKE BROWN...!

Three into one doesn't go. Unless its 1960s University Students into the boot of a Mini-Minor or something like that. But at Rangiora Raceway today it will. One race. One name.

But three sponsors. And they've all got their name on the race. Oh, yes. But how Easy. The race is the Mike Brown Pace, and each and every one of the three sponsors is named ... Mike Brown.

The race and the sponsorship were the brainchild of Mike Brown, the Rangiora Veterinary Surgeon, well-known around the Christchurch area, but also on a wider scale thanks to his appearance as The Vet on Trackside television's series of veterinary programmes a year or two back. It's the sponsorship of the common man be grins, there are plenty of us about. I had to admit that there were probably one hundred times more Mike Browns in New Zealand than there are Kurt Ganzl's in the entire galaxy. The famous three Mike Browns who are taking the sponsoring plunge on Sunday are, I reckon, a pretty uncommon bunch.

Some with more, some with less connection with harness racing.

There's Mike Brown the studmaster at Wai-Eyre Farm, East Eyreton, the home of super stallion Christian Cullen.

And there's Mike Brown, the optometrist of 42 High Street Rangiora, and 192 Williams Street, Kaiapoi who has taken time out from looking after North Canterbury's eyes to become a member of Rangiora Rotary's "Wheel" syndicate which owns the odd pacer.

And, of course, there's Mike Brown the vet.

And, hopefully, a few more Mike Browns will come to the surface who'd like to join us for a few racing good times.

So, if your name is Mike Brown, and you feel like joining the party, just ... ring the vet.
